

Problem Statement:

Many students who attend athletic events at the University of South Carolina frequently leave before the event is over. This has a major impact of the overall atmosphere of the event and lowers the engagement level of the crowds. This can also negatively affect the players on the field, and they have less support than before.